Managers Moment

Carol Alvey

Reminder for the Community Driveway Sale on April 13th, please try to MANAGER have vehicles parked on just one side of the road, don't let anyone block driveways. Please have your driveway cleaned up by 2:30.

Note for following the rules:

Garbage:

Continues to be a problem. Everyone needs to STOP putting garbage on the ground and on top of the dumpsters. City of Largo will not dump if there is garage on the top.

Leaving it on the ground is just asking for bugs, mice, etc. There is to be NO furniture or large items left by the dumpsters. Also, NO tires in the large dumpster. Going forward fines will be given to those who are seen.

There is no overnight parking by the garage doors, there should be no overnight parking without getting a temporary permit from the office. If you need to have a vehicle left down at the clubhouse, notify the office, and get the temporary permit.

A reminder: If you have someone move in with you, they must also have a background check done on them.

JUST SAYIN'

Jeanne Hunter

I often look at my grandkids and can't see me in them. Then they open their mouth and say something sarcastic and I'm like there I am.

I'm on two diets now. One just didn't have enough food on it.

Since I'm not doing anything interesting to write about, I'm starting a new section...

Back in the Day: Years ago, when I was young and my kids were younger, I thought it would be fun to go camping on one of the little spit islands in the intercoastal. My husband said, "You're crazy, you will all drown, I'm not going." He was always the voice of reason, no fun at all. My son, Tom, 14 or so at the time, thought it was a great idea. We invited one of his friends along and packed our old canvas tent (it was o.d., did they come in any other colors?) and whatever else we deemed essential into our johnboat (a little flat bottom fishing boat with a small engine attached). Later that afternoon off we went to Bay Pines VA Park boat ramps. Thus, our adventure began with my pitiful attempt to back the boat down the ramp. My brain cannot comprehend the fact that you have to back up left if you want the boat to go right and vice versa. It's in that section of gray matter that controls parallel parking too. The kids directed me LOUDLY. The usual crowd amassed to watch. Cursing (me), frustration (the kids) and laughter (the crowd) ensued, and sometime later the boat was in straight enough that we could release it into the water.

Off we went, looking for an island big enough to explore with a beach we could pull into and anchor. We found the perfect spot, followed a well-worn trail through tall weeds and a few scrub trees until we found an opening big enough for the tent. Tents today seem to set themselves up automatically. Lightweight, brightly colored synthetic materials that you lay on the ground and press a couple buttons, stand back, and watch them pop into shape. Our tent weighed somewhere short of a ton, desperately needed to be aired out before we attempted human habitation and needed someone with an engineering degree and eight arms to assemble. Somehow the tent got up and we got our party started. Back to the beach and the boat. A few other explorers stopped in for a bit and we had conversations about nothing and everything. Finally, alone, it was dusk, and we had beautiful sky views all around us. The boys pulled out their “water ski.” Ever imaginative and creative, they had found a piece of plywood and an old shoe and nailed the shoe to the plywood. I smiled and said it looked great. I sat on a blanket with a lantern, and they took off in the boat with its tiny little motor to do their version of waterskiing, which was almost, on occasion, standing up a millisecond before crashing into the water in gales of laughter. I watched their silhouettes bobbing in the water, climbing in and out of the boat, animatedly debating who was next to captain the boat. I called them in as darkness overtook us. Back to the tent to unpack sandwiches, snacks and drinks. Of course, by the light of the lantern on our dark, isolated island, we finished the day with ghost stories. We were up with the sunrise, packed and ready in short order. Now came the cool part. Up the intercoastal to Madeira Beach McDonald's! This one has boat docks, and you pull right up to their patio, and walk in for your food. Crowds of seagulls’ swoop in and grab any french fries you wave in the air. There we were in with all the big, fancy boats, feeling mighty pleased with ourselves, just because. Who needs a reason?

There is no way I would do anything like that now. The world has changed a lot and more dangers lurk around us, but ah, back in the day...

Well, talk about bad luck. I entered ten puns into a pun contest to see which one would win. NO PUN IN TEN DID!

the refrigerator. I think he is enjoying the fact that I still have two kitchen lights out that he disconnected. I finally found the perfect food. It's cat food slush, like Delectables. I was so happy I got two cases. I think he saw that I stocked up so, of course, he stopped eating it. Not taking little bites or tiny licks. Nothing. He walked over to it, sniffed once and was done. So am I. I have tried everything, up to and including real tuna and salmon. I know he's not starving. His big, ole kitty belly swings from side to side when he walks across the room. And he has no problem eating his kibbles, those little multi-colored rocks that I must always restock so we never see the bottom of the bowl. From now on, I will just get whatever canned food I see at the store and if he doesn't eat it, tough. And I will never get a lot of any he seems to like. Well, I will get shreds, not pate. And of course, I will continue to add a little water and smash the food as much as I can for him. But he's not the boss of me!!

Dog Tails: Great news. Lucy is all better. She had an infection in her liver. After a round of antibiotics and some supplement pills, she has a spring in her step again and no more wetting the bed.

The first thing I did after making a vet appointment was go to Petsmart and buy some teeny little doggy diapers. I got a package of 12 which cost $13. It was the size of a Kleenex cube. They must have a compacting machine. Putting a diaper on a dog is not as simple as you might think. Unlike babies, dogs do not want to lie on their back and coo while you try to put pants on them. As long as I belly scratched (Lucy's, not mine), she stayed still. Unfortunately, diapering requires two hands. After some wrestling, the diaper was on sort of. Doggie diapers have a hole for the tail. Now I had to stick my hand in and find a tail to pull through while trying to keep legs in place in the diaper. Two legs need two hands plus a tail makes three hands. Are you starting to see my problem? And a tail partially out quickly slides back in and disappears. After a few minutes of wrangling, tail and legs were where they should be. Ten seconds later, Lucy walked out of the diaper. I tried again and made it snuggler. Same results. I took Lucy in my arms, looked into her eyes and said, "Please don't wet the bed." My plea and the first round of antibiotics did the trick. I woke to a dry bed and happy puppy.

Lucy has finally tired of cheese wrapped pills, so I had to find a new concealment plan. I had to give her two pills each morning and night, two of the four had to be with food, and one other pill without food. Lucy got lots of snacks. I've got the pill thing down to science. I take a Pupperoni stick and break off pieces about ¼ inch long. That size she will usually swallow. Any bigger she chews and out pops the pill. Very carefully I push the pill into the center. I have at least 3 pieces. I give her the pill piece first and let her see there are more pieces. If the first piece is the right size and she sees more to swallow, she gulps it right down. This took a lot of trial and error and more snacks than one little doggy should consume. Kids are a lot easier. You give them a choice, take your medicine or find a new home!

And, from Bacon University, to further your education, 10 things you might not know about bacon.

1. Bacon has been around since 1500 B.C. And is still the number 1 meat.

2. Denmark consumes the most bacon in the world. The rascals!
3. Oscar Mayer first patented sliced bacon since that whole bologna thing worked out.
4. During World War II, the U.S. Urged citizens to donate their excess bacon fat to the army for the development of weapons.
5. In 1992, Hardee's produced one of the first fast-food bacon burgers. The Frisco burger. It was a hit.
6. The average American consumes 18 pounds of bacon per year. Are you doing your part?
7. Bacon has been described as a “gateway to meat for vegetarians.” The first slice is free. Then you're hooked.
8. One of the first foods eaten on the moon was bacon. Out of this world, Man. Far out!
9. Turkey bacon was invented by an evil force hell bent on destroying the world. Resist at all costs!

Frying bacon in the nude should not be confused with the phrase “making bacon” and could result in the need of serious medical attention. Fry responsibly.

Hope you learned something. Just sayin'

Thank you to Manager Carol for letting this happen.

We are so sad to say goodbye to some of our longtime residents: Wanda Redding, Dave & Mary Rodgers, Rob & Janet Spence and Ed & Millie Zygmunt.

We wish you all well and hope to see you all again. The Ranch won't be the same without you. I apologize if I missed someone.

The Dance was a HUGE success. The Band “Still Rockin’ was a crowd pleaser. It was awesome to see 95 attend and party on. The music was great, and you would have thought we had a bunch of young teenagers out there dancing away. (Or maybe the Jello shots helped that out)? It was also nice to meet some new friends that follow the band, hopefully we meet again. We are in the process of booking them again next season. I'm told the next day the bodies were saying “Nope not 19 anymore, but it was sure worth it”

Variety Show

I have so many people to thank for the success of the Variety Show. I was told it was one of the most professional ones that we have had. I give a lot of credit to Adam Pirhofer for the music. Of course, Wayne Jones for the great job he did as our MC. Carol Raabe did a fantastic job with the veterans' pictures. A big thanks to all the performers, greeters, kitchen helpers and stage managers. It takes a village to make it all come together. We plan to do it again next year so start practicing. Also thanks to the shufflers for setting up and taking down tables and chairs.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word – the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Bring your voice, beverages, and you down and join in the fun and entertainment. As usual subject to change.

If you can sing or not come out and join in the fun, there is no judging here. Want some free entertainment? Come on down to the clubhouse and enjoy the music and cheer on your fellow Rancher.

Watch the bulletin board in the club house for signup sheet and color. Better yet- come join in Monday Morning meeting and get all the details then.

Library

Come on in and borrow a book or drop off the ones you have read. Please put books in the tote and we will put them back on the shelf. Looking for any large print books. Sorry. No magazines please.

Shuffleboard

Bay Ranch were the winners of the Traveling Trophy presented to the champions of the Sunshine League for the 2023-2024 season. This trophy will be placed in the Bay Ranch clubhouse until won by another team in the future.

A picture and plaque with the names of the players will be in the Trophy case at the clubhouse.

Players had a great season with only one game raining out, on a beautiful sunny day. Ray and Jean thank all players for making the winning of the Trophy possible.

Remember concentration makes a good shuffleboard player.

In Park shufflers will offer lessons and coaching to anyone interested on Monday afternoons at 1pm. So come on down and see what you have been missing.
