UPDATE ABOUT BOB

He has had a couple of strokes and still depends only on donations for support for him and his family.

BOB NEEDS OUR HELP!

Our delivery driver, Bob Davis (whom many of you know and have liked over the years), had a SERIOUS FALL while trimming a tree for a needy person on Sunday, August 5th.
He broke bones in his neck plus other injuries. He has NO insurance and he is the sole provider for his family. ANY donation you may be able to help with will be GREATLY APPRECIATED!!!

Tax deductible donations may now be given through New Day of Love Inc. (501C3)

Social Committee Tidbits

Ingrid Eby

As summer approaches, Boca Ciega becomes quieter and quieter. Only a few year-round residents remain and they don't venture out much. The weather of course is extremely hot and there hasn't been much rain. Seems like all the rain has fallen in the North and Mid-West. All the farmers are lamenting about their crops that haven't been planted or have been flooded. Mother Nature sure is the boss in the weather department.

Memorial Day was celebrated by going to Sea Hag's Restaurant. Fourteen residents and four guests had a lovely meal and fellowship. Plans are already in the works for a 4th of July gathering at Roosterfish Grille. Virginia Fuchtmann is the Social Director for all the summer activities, holidays and Saturday breakfasts, and doing a great job.

Some of the residents are meeting up at the club house on Wednesday night for game night. Rumor has it that Rummikub and Dominos are the game of choice so far. It's nice to hear that events are taking place during the summer for those who remain all year.

The park is doing well and as always we thank those who remain for keeping a watchful eye out for all of us.

News and Notes

We had word that Barney Robinson is doing well in the Assisted Living facility. He is enjoying the meals and all those he sits with during the day.

Yours truly has had some medical issues. To begin with I developed a blood clot in my leg which put me out of commission for a week. A week later gout appeared in my knee in the same leg. Another week of rest and elevation. Now the pain and swelling have subsided so I can walk again. I am still on medication to dissolve the blood clot and hopefully get off the Eloquis. Prayers appreciated.

As always be safe and stay healthy

"People who wonder whether the glass is half full miss the point. The glass is refillable."

The heavy lifting

A man arrived home from work to find his children playing in the yard in their pajamas. Their toys were strewn about the yard, along with the day's mail and miscellaneous litter.

He entered the house and noticed muddy paw prints leading to the family room where the dog was stretched out on the sofa. Dirty dishes filled the sink, an open box of cereal was tipped over on the counter, and laundry piled up in front of the washer. None of the beds had been made, and the bathroom floors were blanketed with used towels.

He searched every room, but there was no trace of his wife. Finally he found her sitting in the backyard reading a magazine. He approached her cautiously and asked, "Honey, is everything OK?"

"Never better," she replied as she flipped through pages of her magazine.

"What happened here today?" he asked.

The wife looked up at her husband and said, "You know how you come home every evening and say, 'Honey, I did the heavy lifting today. What contribution did you make for this family?'"

"Yes," the man replied.

The wife looked back at her magazine and said, "Well, today I didn't make my contribution."

A glimpse of the future

A man visited a psychic.

"Hmmm. Mmmmh," she hummed as she waved her hands over her crystal ball. "I see your future very clearly. You will be poor and unhappy until you reach the age of 42."

"What happens then?" the man asked. "Do I win the lottery? Will I inherit my great-uncle Sal's estate? Do I invent the next big thing and become a millionaire?"

"No," the fortune teller replied. "You will still be poor, but by then you will be used to it."

Juvenile Arthritis Awareness Month. Approximately 300,000 children in the U.S. have some form of arthritis. These young people deal with more than the pain of this debilitating disease. Many suffer from social isolation and depression as a result of being less active than their peers. To learn more, visit <https://curearthritis.org/> and <https://www.arthritis.org/>

Smart Irrigation Month. Before you turn on the sprinkler, take a moment to consider the costs to the environment and your wallet. Go to <https://www.irrigation.org/> for more information.

World Watercolor Month. Embrace your inner artist and challenge yourself to complete one small painting every day throughout July. Encourage your children to do the same, and exhibit your work at the end of the month.

Weekly

Roswell UFO days, July 5–7. We are not alone, and no one knows this better than the folks in Roswell, New Mexico. People from around the globe can flock to the UFO capital of the world this weekend in hopes of making contact. There will also be a fun run, costume contest, parade, and other activities. Protect yourself from scammers

Even the most careful consumer can fall prey to a financial scam. Here's what to watch for and how to protect yourself, as explained on the Money Saving Expert website:

How to know you've been scammed

- You have unfamiliar or unexplained charges on your bank or credit card accounts.
- Financial charges that you don't recognize appear on your credit statement.
- Bank statements aren't coming to your current address.
- You get rejected for credit even though you've got a good credit history.

What to do if you've been scammed

- Contact the scammer directly. It's worth a try to get your money back. If that doesn't work, end all communication immediately.
- Get in touch with your bank. Cancel any recurring payments, and let your bank or credit card issuer know what's going on.
- Report the scam to the police. If nothing else, you'll create a record of the fraudulent activity that may help authorities pursue the scammer if others report it as well.

Money may be the husk of many things, but not the kernel. It brings you food, but not appetite; medicine, but not health; acquaintances, but not friends; servants, but not faithfulness; days of joy, but not peace or happiness.

Scientists bring dead brains back to life

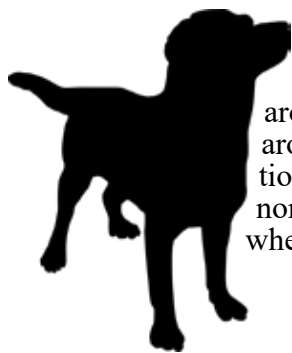

Zombie pigs? Not exactly, but scientists have apparently succeeded in restoring some cellular activity in the brains of pigs hours after the pigs were slaughtered, the Science News website reports.

The pigs had been killed in a meat processing plant, and 300 heads were sent to a Yale University lab, where 32 surgically removed brains were placed in a chamber containing a specially designed blood replacement fluid that delivered oxygen, sugar, and other ingredients at body temperature through the brains' blood vessels. During six hours in the chamber, the brain showed signs of activity, suggesting the brains were still functioning metabolically, and nerve cells in the hippocampus and prefrontal cortex appeared healthy. Some nerve cells could still fire signals.

The study suggests that brains are more resilient than previously was thought, fueling hope that doctors may someday be able to help patients overcome brain damage caused by stroke or other injuries.

How lost dogs find their way home

It's a happy day when a lost dog finds its way home, but how does it get back? A New York Times article offers two explanations: Dogs' hypersensitive sense of smell allows them to create a map of scents around their neighborhood, using gardens or grocery stores and human aroma as markers. In addition, they may be sensitive to magnetic orientation. One study of dozens of canines observed that dogs tend to adopt a north-south orientation when they defecate, but that preference vanished when the magnetic field around them was disturbed.

Either way, dogs are no doubt happy to get home.

Physicians dispense not only medicines but words that influence medicines or, all by themselves, that affect the patient more than the medicine.
