BEST MYSTERY & THRILLER

End of Watch by Stephen King

The spectacular finale to the New York Times bestselling trilogy that began with Mr. Mercedes (winner of the Edgar Award) and Finders Keepers—In End of Watch, the diabolical “Mercedes Killer” drives his enemies to suicide, and if Bill Hodges and Holly Gibney don’t figure out a way to stop him, they’ll be victims themselves.

In Room 217 of the Lakes Region Traumatic Brain Injury Clinic, something has awakened. Something evil. Brady Hartsfield, perpetrator of the Mercedes Massacre, where eight people were killed and many more were badly injured, has been in the clinic for five years, in a vegetative state. According to his doctors, anything approaching a complete recovery is unlikely. But behind the drool and stare, Brady is awake, and in possession of deadly new powers that allow him to wreak unimaginable havoc without ever leaving his hospital room.

Retired police detective Bill Hodges, the unlikely hero of Mr. Mercedes and Finders Keepers, now runs an investigation agency with his partner, Holly Gibney—the woman who delivered the blow to Hartsfield’s head that put him on the brain injury ward. When Bill and Holly are called to a suicide scene with ties to the Mercedes Massacre, they find themselves pulled into their most dangerous case yet, one that will put their lives at risk, as well as those of Bill’s heroic young friend Jerome Robinson and his teenage sister, Barbara. Brady Hartsfield is back, and planning revenge not just on Hodges and his friends, but on an entire city.

In End of Watch, Stephen King brings the Hodges trilogy to a sublimely terrifying conclusion, combining the detective fiction of Mr. Mercedes and Finders Keepers with the heart-pounding, supernatural suspense that has been his bestselling trademark. The result is an unnerving look at human vulnerability and chilling suspense. No one does it better than King.

"I WISH I'D THOUGHT OF THAT!" BY JEFF ROVIN

Baseball Cards with Gum

These days, because baseball cards are big-ticket collectibles, and gum stains reduce their value, bubblegum is no longer part of the package. There was a time though, when those stiff, often brittle, pink slabs were an important part of the craze.

The first baseball cards were issued with packages of Old Judge Cigarettes in the 1880s. Later, more youth-oriented products like Cracker Jack and Tip Top Bread offered collector's cards as well.

These early cards featured painted pictures of stars with little, if any, information on the back. That changed in 1952, when the bubble gum manufacturer, Topps, decided to get into the business in a big way. The rival Bazooka brand, with a square wad of gum, wraparound Bazooka Joe comic strip and prize offers, pretty much had the penny-gum market all wrapped up, so to speak.

Topps decided to compete by offering a whopping 407-card lineup of baseball cards, with five cards and a stick of gum packaged inside the wrapper, all for a nickel. The idea was that kids would get hooked on collecting complete sets of cards and Topps would sell lots of gum during the peak summer months, when kids chewed more than at any other time of the year.

The plan worked, and other companies followed suit. In 1957, Topps landed a card contract with professional baseball, a license they held exclusively for a quarter of a century.

MOTHERS OF INVENTION

There have always been women inventors, even if they've been overlooked in history books. Here are a few you may not have heard of.

Melitta Bentz, a housewife in Dresden, Germany

Invention: Drip coffeemakers

Background: At the beginning of the 20th century, people made coffee by dumping a cloth bag full of coffee grounds into boiling water. It was an ugly process, the grounds inevitable leaked into the water, leaving it gritty and bitter.

One morning in 1908, Frau Bentz decided to try something different, she tore a piece of blotting paper (used to mop up after runny fountain pens) from her son's schoolbook and put it in the bottom of a brass pot she'd poked with holes. She put coffee on top of the paper and poured boiling water over it. It was the birth of "drip" coffeemakers, and the Melitta company. Today, Melitta sells its coffeemakers in 150 countries around the world.

Bette Nesmith Graham, a secretary at the Texas Bank and Trust in Dallas in the early 1950's.

Invention: Liquid Paper

Background: Graham was a terrible typist...but when she tried to erase her mistakes, the ink on her IBM typewriter just smeared. One afternoon in 1951, while watching sign painters letter the bank's windows, she got a brilliant idea: "With lettering, an artist never corrects by erasing but always paints over the error. So I decided to use what artists use. I put some waterbase paint in a bottle and took my watercolor brush to the office. And I used that to correct my typing mistakes. "So many other secretaries asked for bottles of "Mistake Out" that in 1956 she started a small business selling it. A year later, she changed the formula and founded Liquid Paper, Inc. In 1966 her son, Michael Nesmith, made more money as a member of the Monkees than she did with Liquid Paper. But in 1979, she sold her company to Gillette for $47 million.

11 Interesting Facts You May Not Know About Florida

You probably know Florida is home to Disney World and is nicknamed the Sunshine State. You may even know that Key West is the southernmost point in the continental U.S. and that St. Augustine is considered the oldest city in the country. Here however, are 11 things you may not know about Florida.

1. Tolls

Florida has more toll roads and bridges than any other state in the Union.

2. Fern Capital

The small town of Pierson in Northeast Florida is known as the Fern Capital of the World. Ferns from farms here are shipped worldwide and these farms can be seen everywhere in the area.

3. Highest Point

Florida has more golf courses than any other state and is home to the World Golf Hall of Fame and Museum in St. Augustine.

4. The highest point in Florida is only 345 feet above sea level. Britton Hill is in the Florida Panhandle. The highest point in Florida's peninsula is Sugarloaf Mountain near Clermont at 312 feet.

5. Golf - Gators and Crocs

The Florida Everglades are the only place on the planet where crocodiles and alligators live together.

6. Go With The Flow

Florida's largest river, the St. Johns River, is one of only a few major rivers that flow from south to north.

7. More than Oranges

Florida is the largest producer of watermelons in the country. It also produces the most tomatoes, strawberries and sugar.

8. That's a LOT of Wood

Made mostly of Florida pine, The Belleview Biltmore Resort and Spa, northwest of Tampa Bay is said to be the world's largest occupied wooden structure at 820,000 square feet.

VINYL IS FINAL

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

George Lordstrom, Saint Petersburg, FL

9. Biggest City

You may be surprised to learn that in terms of area, Jacksonville, Florida is the largest city in the United States.

10. Long Lines

Sure there are long lines at Disney World. After all annual attendance is about 17 million people. That's over 45,000 people per day on AVERAGE. Busy days will see over 100,000.

11. Cool!

It would make sense that mechanical refrigeration was invented in Florida. In 1851 Dr. John Gorrie of the little town of Apalachicola created the invention.

If you are heading to Florida for Spring Break or planning a summer vacation, be sure to use your defensive driving skills. Florida drivers come from all over and have different driving temperaments. Defensive driving could keep you from getting into an accident.

January Crossword

Brain drain: Control your appetite after a long day at the office

Ever notice that you can feel starving after a long day at work even though you've spent it mainly at your desk? Scientists, as reported by The New York Times, say it happens because your brain, feeling tired, starts to want more fuel to keep going—even though you haven't exactly been digging ditches for eight or nine hours. The problem is that you're consuming calories your body doesn't actually need because your brain is telling you to.

One way around this dilemma is exercise. In an experiment at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, 38 college students met to discuss what their favorite pizza was. After the discussion, they were allowed to eat as much pizza as they wanted. On another day, they were brought back and given a series of tests from college entrance and graduate-level exams. Afterward, half the students worked out on treadmills while the rest sat quietly. The entire group was again served all the pizza they wanted, but the treadmill group ate less—about 25 fewer calories than at their previous session. On the other hand, the rest of the group actually ate 100 calories more.

The study suggests that a light workout after a mentally strenuous day may curb one's appetite—good to know before you sit down to eat.

Eat lots of these foods to prevent prostate cancer

Prostate cancer is one of the most common forms of cancer in men—more than 180,000 cases are diagnosed each year. Diet can be a factor, doctors say, especially one of foods high in saturated fats found in meat and dairy products. Men may be able to reduce their risk of developing prostate cancer by eating more of these healthy foods:

- Broccoli. Benefits: Low in carbohydrates and rich in antioxidants and phytochemicals that may prevent cell changes contributing to cancer.
- Salmon. Benefits: Lots of omega-3 fatty acids that can inhibit prostate cancer.
- Brazil nuts. Benefits: Selenium; six to eight nuts contain 700 percent of a daily serving.
- Tomatoes. Benefits: Lycopene. Men who eat 10 portions of tomatoes a week may reduce their risk of prostate cancer by 18 percent.
- Walnuts. Benefits: Walnuts and walnut oil have been shown to reduce levels of the hormone IGF-1, which has been linked to prostate cancer.
- Coffee. Benefits: Antioxidants, as well as stimulating the body to metabolize sugars more efficiently. Green tea shares similar qualities.
