Recreation Committee Openings:

There will be six positions available on the Recreation Committee as members have served their term. As a member of the committee you can affect change. New and innovative ideas keep us all young. This is a great way to be involved and get to know people in our Park.

Anyone wishing to join the committee can approach any current member by March 7th and the new term would commence on March 14th.

February's: Message from your Recreation Committee

Our Rummage Sale was a great success having brought in approximately $1,458. Thank you to all who contributed to this endeavor with special thanks going out to Eloise Blanchard and Carole Seely. We will be reporting a total intake of the Penny Auction and Rummage Sale in the next bulletin.

It is so good to see people taking part in the various activities here in the Park. Don't forget to check the bulletin board, white board, emails and attend the coffee hour to keep yourself updated on all of our events. We would like to highlight a few things going on this month.

Our next pancake breakfast is on Saturday February 2nd from 8:30 to 9:30. Come on out and enjoy this community breakfast! It really is a great way to meet people and renew friendships.

Be sure to mark your calendar for the Valentine dinner and dance on February 14th. This event is being hosted by Mary Redding and Pamela Lewis. After enjoying a great potluck dinner, stay and dance to Ron and the Classics.

This year the Rec Committee is trying something totally new so be sure to mark your calendar for Thursday February 28th at 7:00 pm. Razzmatazz advertises as a fun and interactive show that will provide plenty of laughter. This should be a very entertaining performance.

If anyone would like to have their name added to the email list, please contact Bob Pippy at: thepippys@gmail.com. Bob has taken this on in a strictly volunteer capacity, these emails are not official Park correspondence. This has proven to be our most effective way of getting information out in a very timely manner.

If you would like to have your birthday or anniversary published in the Park bulletin and placed on the bulletin board please contact Sharon Ledingham. Her email is: sharonledingham04@gmail.com

See everyone at coffee!

Monthly

American Heart Month. Because heart disease is a leading cause of death in the United States, make sure you are doing all you can to keep your heart healthy: Limit your intake of sodium and tobacco products, avoid fried and fatty foods, increase your intake of fruits and vegetables, and get at least 30 minutes of exercise five days or more each week.

Declutter for a Cause Month. Don't wait for spring to tidy up. Purge unwanted and unused items from your home this February, and donate them to a local nonprofit.

International Boost Self-Esteem Month. Because we are often our biggest critics, pledge to do away with the negative self-talk. Show yourself some love by focusing on your positive attributes. Make an effort to smile at the face you see in the mirror.

Low Vision Awareness Month. It's projected that by 2030 at least 5 million baby boomers will suffer from this condition, which cannot be corrected by surgery, medication, or wearing eyeglasses. Everyday activities like writing, reading, cooking, and getting around, as well as the ability to recognize faces, become challenging. Visit the website for the National Eye Institute to learn more and find resources available for seniors living with low vision: <https://nei.nih.gov/nehep/lvam>

Plant the Seeds of Greatness Month. Do something each day this month that moves you closer to your short- and long-term goals.

Weekly

Freelance Writer Appreciation Week, Feb. 11–15. Give a shout-out to these important members of your team. Find a creative way to show your appreciation for the freelance writers contributing to your organization this second week of February.

Telecommuter Appreciation Week, Feb. 24–March 2. Since 1993, the American Telecommuting Association has been promoting the work/life and overall benefits of this flexible employment option. Though most consider this arrangement to be a perk, keep in mind that your remote workers often lack access to the physical resources your organization provides, so show them some love this week.

National Eating Disorders Awareness Week, Feb. 25–March 3. Eating disorders affect more than 30 million Americans. The National Eating Disorders Association (NEDA) uses this week to highlight the struggles faced by individuals with these conditions and their loved ones, as well as ways to support them. Cave drawing of bull is earliest of its kind Archeologists have discovered the oldest known drawing of an animal on the wall of a cave in Indonesia, according to the U.S. News & World Report website. It's some 40,000 years old, about five feet wide, and it depicts a bull-like creature in a red silhouette.

Along with similar drawings on cave walls in Borneo, the drawing sparks renewed debate about the role of art in ancient times. Similar cave paintings have been found in France and Spain, though they're just 33,500 to 37,000 years old.

Cave dwellers began sketching humans engaged in hunting activities and dancing some 14,000 years ago in both Europe and Asia. The findings raise the possibility that humans migrated from Africa to Europe and then Asia, bringing their artistic sensibilities with them.

Invasion of the space worms

Long-term space travel poses many challenges, but one of the most daunting is the loss of muscle mass in a zero-gravity environment. On a voyage to Mars, for example, space travelers could arrive on the red planet too weak to stand. Now, reports the Popular Science website, thousands of worms headed to the International Space Station (ISS) may help solve the problem.

Scientists plan to study muscle atrophy in the worms and then treat them with a special brand of RNA designed to stop the breakdown of protein and preserve the muscles in their bodies. If all goes according to plan, this could alleviate one danger to astronauts remaining in space for long periods of time.

Science is simply common sense at its best, that is, rigidly accurate in observation, and merciless to fallacy in logic.

—Thomas Henry Huxley

Start on the path to better heart health

Taking control of your heart health is one of the best ways to lead a long life. It's not that hard, especially if you follow this basic advice from the Time magazine website:

- Eat more plants. Fruits and vegetables contain fiber, antioxidants, and lots of vitamins and minerals.

- Limit animal fat. Butter and other forms of fat from animals have been linked to higher cholesterol and increased risk of heart disease. Stick to monounsaturated fats found in olive oil, avocados, and many nuts, along with polyunsaturated fats from fish like wild salmon and sardines.

- Watch your sugar intake. Many foods add sugar, which can add calories and weight. The American Heart Association recommends that women have no more than six teaspoons' worth of added sugar a day and men stick to nine—although the average intake for all Americans is roughly 22 teaspoons per day. Check the labels on everything you buy.

- Exercise often. You don't have to run for five miles every day. The American Heart Association advises about 150 minutes of moderate exercise a week, or 30–60 minutes every day.

- Stand up. Sitting for hours at a time has a negative impact on your heart. Even if you work at a desk job, make a point of getting up and moving around regularly for five to 10 minutes every hour.

- Watch your stress. Stress can heighten your heart disease risk at a rate similar to smoking and diabetes. Practice meditation and yoga to keep yourself calm and reduce your heart's workload.

The foundation of success in life is good health. That is the substratum fortune; it is also the basis of happiness. A person cannot accumulate a fortune very well when he is sick.

—P. T. Barnum

Many Americans still worried about their finances

The stock market may be up, but many Americans are still struggling with financial security, according to a story on the USA Today website. A September 2018 Bankrate.com survey found that among people earning less than $30,000 a year, 78 percent said that their financial situation has failed to improve over the past two years, and many said it had gotten worse. On the other hand, people earning $75,000 a year or more reported feeling better about their money.

The survey found other divides as well. People 65 and older reported the least financial improvement, and millennials ages 28–37 felt the most improvement. In addition, men reported doing better in earlier years than women did.

Coffee still in demand

We sure like our coffee. The U.S. National Coffee Association's 2018 National Coffee Drinking Trends report says that the number of Americans who drank coffee in the past day is the highest it's been in six years.

According to the report, based on a study of more than 2,700 adults 18 or older, 64 percent said they drank coffee within the past day, the highest amount since 2012. This is higher than the growth from 57 percent in 2016 to 62 percent in 2017. The study also found that past-day consumption traditional coffee, defined as “regular coffee” brewed from “gourmet quality” beans, held steady over the previous years, at 16 percent. Similarly, consumption of espresso-based drinks held steady from 2017, at 24 percent.

Try these tips for healthy eating habits

If you've already slipped off your New Year's diet, it's not too late to get back on track. Just follow these tips for healthy weight loss from the Harvard Health Publishing website:

- Make a list. Keep track of what you eat and drink for at least three days. Include what you consume, where, how much, and so forth.
- Set a goal. Be specific—do you want to lose a certain number of pounds, lower your blood pressure, or something else? Identify strategies for reaching your goal in a reasonable amount of time.
- Anticipate obstacles. What might prevent you from hitting your goal? If a busy schedule might keep you from working out, plan to get up a little earlier. If an empty pantry tempts you to order take-out, spend some time looking up healthy recipes, then go to the grocery store for ingredients and make enough for a few nights of leftovers.

Mystery of the mummified priest

The mummified remains of an 18th-century Austrian priest have been identified, the Fox News website reports, as well as the reason behind the mystery of why the priest's body hasn't decayed for more than 300 years.

The priest, Franz Xaver Sydler von Rosenegg, lived from 1709 to 1746 in the district of St. Thomas am Blasenstein in Upper Austria. He was a heavy smoker who died of tuberculosis and was interred in a church crypt in his lederhosen, his body stuffed with branches, wood chips, and scraps of cloth. Along with the conditions in the crypt, this prevented the body from decomposing over time, instead mummifying and preserving the body.

Examination of the skin and bones showed that the priest was well fed and probably didn't have to do much physical work. Abrasions on his teeth suggest that he smoked a pipe for many years.

In another mystery, a glass bead was discovered in the priest's lower abdomen. Some suspected a poisoning attempt, but researchers have determined that the bead was probably from a rosary and fell into the body during the stuffing process.

Ozone layer is recovering, scientists report

Some good news about the environment comes from the UPI website: Scientists say that the hole in the ozone layer above Earth's Northern Hemisphere is expected to disappear in the 2030s.

The ozone layer protects the surface of the Earth from hazardous ultraviolet rays from the sun. When the rupture was measured in the late 20th century, many nations joined the Montreal Protocol, which sought to reduce the use of chlorofluorocarbons and other ozone-depleting substances from aerosol cans, cooling and refrigeration systems, and other sources. A second measure, the Kigali Amendment, is expected to reduce even more ozone-eroding gases in refrigerators, air conditioners, and other products.

The Southern Hemisphere's ozone layer is expected to fully recover in the 2050s, followed by polar regions in the 2060s.

Treasure the love you receive above all. It will survive long after your good health has vanished.

One sweet, simple thing

Ten years after John Chhan and his wife, Stella, emigrated to the United States from Cambodia, they opened a small doughnut shop in the southern California town of Seal Beach. They are there seven days a week and arrive at 2:30 every morning to make sure there are plenty of doughnuts ready when the shop opens at 4:30 a.m. This is how it's been since 1990, and they've enjoyed the love and support of loyal, longtime customers.

When Dawn Caviola, a customer of 13 years, noticed Chhan alone in the shop one morning, she inquired about Stella. Chhan explained his wife was recovering in a rehabilitation facility after suffering an aneurysm. Upon hearing this, Caviola realized she had to do something for this beloved, hardworking couple who are a fixture of the community.

Caviola took to the social media platform Nextdoor to spread the word in Seal Beach about Stella's illness. As awareness increased, customers of the doughnut shop began brainstorming ways to help. Chhan respectfully declined when some of the regulars offered to start a GoFundMe campaign to raise money to help with expenses. Chhan told them what he wanted more than anything was time to be with his wife.

More social media posts followed. Soon people of the community were lining up to buy doughnuts and lots of them. Even people who didn't eat doughnuts were frequenting the shop to buy a dozen just to give away. "People can just do a simple thing for their neighbors," Caviola says.

On good days, John Chhan is sold out by 8:30 a.m. Whatever the time, as soon as all of the doughnuts are gone, Chhan closes up shop and goes to the rehabilitation center to spend time with Stella. He says his wife is getting better. She can speak again and has also relearned how to feed herself. He looks forward to the day that she is fully recovered and can once again be by his side in their shop. He is also grateful for all of those people who have given him this precious gift of time.

Sometimes the things that are most helpful result from simple gestures or small acts of kindness that create their own momentum and have a huge impact on the lives of the people we love and respect.

I suppose real old age is when one looks backward rather than forward.
