Medicare has very strict rules prohibiting the enrollment into most products via door-to-door sales. Still many seniors are experiencing unsolicited calls and visitors. Making a decision about your health coverage is important and should be done every year, but not by someone who shows up on your doorstep or is cold calling you. At Best Plan Choice, we encourage you to find out how good a full-service health agency can be for you. We work directly with individuals, groups and communities to bring our services to you, at your request.

During the annual enrollment season for Medicare health coverage (Oct 15-Dec 7) we host seminars with free coffee and dessert (see our enclosed insert or call 855-BOOMER65). Throughout the year, we are available to present every available plan, assist you with customer service issues or become your agent if you need one.

Are you debating if you need Medicare Part B? We can show you how to save money on your Part B premium each month. Do you need financial assistance? We can help you apply for Medicaid or extra help for the high pharmacy costs you may have. Is your spouse still working to provide health insurance for you? We may have options which will start their retirement sooner. We will provide a complete needs analysis during a personalized appointment so you can make the best plan choice for you. As always, our services are without charge or cost to you. Call us at Best Plan Choice, where Clients become Friends, and Friends become Clients!

BUS TO SHOP -Begins Nov 2, pickup at Rec Hall

All of these activities and meetings will resume after the renovations to the clubhouse and the surrounding areas are completed. A time frame of mid to late November has been given by management for completion. Notices will be posted around the park and look for text messages notifying you of beginning dates.

Shuffling and Bocce will begin as soon as access to the courts is possible.

Notice from Jamie: All residents please let Jamie know when you arrive so she will know how to send your rent invoice. If you are here it will be taped to your door.

PHONE DIRECTORY

---

The 2018 – 2019 Phone Directory will be distributed in November. Directories will be distributed at Social Club meetings when they begin.

DANCE

Thursday - November 29th – Music provided by Dazzler. Tickets will be available at Social Club meetings. Please sign up for your table when you purchase your tickets. Hopefully the clubhouse will be renovated and we can celebrate the opening of our new hall!!! Look for more information posted around the park, if possible, notice will also be given by text message.

BOCCE

Get ready for a new season of Bocce. This court is always a fun place to be. New members do better than some of the older “experienced” ones who think they are experts at the game. Games will be starting Mon and Fri at 9:00am. Come up to the court, sign up on the game blackboard and play. No set teams. The fun really starts when couples are on different teams. Teams consist of 4 members each. Come up to the court, see the game, and start playing. Hopefully the court will be ready by late November.

REMEMBER THE MIGRANT WORKERS

Harriet Ha-Sidi will again be collecting blankets for the migrant workers in Plant City. Their houses have no heat and the winter nights can be very cold. Harriet will purchase a blanket for you with her tax exempt number if that is easier for you. Please remember the workers when doing your holiday shopping. Harriet will give you more information at Social Club meetings. A final date for collection will be announced in November.

As you have in the past, please support this worthy cause.

CHRISTMAS PARADE:

Be looking for the date and time. Don Halker is our parade chairman and will be announcing the details soon. Start thinking about your decorations. Many of the battery operated Christmas lights sell out early. Get those golf carts and bikes ready to go! Walkers always welcome. Such a fun time for everyone.

SHUFFLING

Will be starting soon. More information will be available at Social Club meetings. There was a lot of interest in this sport last year and hopefully that interest will continue this year. The park participates in an organized league and also has fun shuffling for those who just want to learn the game. Fun shuffling was held on Wednesday evenings last season. Starting date will be announced at Social Club. Please consider trying this enjoyable game.

Doug Berman , chairman for Nov-Dec , will announce practice times at Social Club meetings, as well as date when fun shuffling will start.

Take a cold shower—for better health

Showers keep you clean, but a cold shower can be good for your health. An article on the Success website spells out the benefits of taking cold showers:

- Immunity. Scientists believe there's a correlation between cold showers and increased production of an amino acid called glutathione, which boosts the immune system, gets rid of toxins, and eases stress.
- Better skin health. A hot shower removes important oils from the skin, making it dry and itchy. Cold showers reduce skin inflammation. They also prevent your hair from becoming brittle.
- Muscle recovery. There's a reason why athletes soak in ice baths after a tough game. The cold water helps speed their recovery time and relieve soreness quicker.
- Better moods. Cold showers may prevent depression, according to researchers at Virginia Commonwealth University. Decreasing the temperature of your water and then spending two or three minutes under cold water sends a lot of electrical impulses from the nerves in your skin up to your brain, which could have an anti-depressive effect.

Climate change strategy a mixed bag

Scientists scrambling for a solution to the problems caused by climate change have come up with an intriguing idea: shooting tiny particles high into the atmosphere to scatter the light of the sun.

The Science magazine website reports that sulfur dioxide gas can cool down temperatures by reacting to water vapor and forming droplets that scatter sunlight. It happens during major volcanic eruptions, such as the eruption of Mount Pinatubo in the Philippines in 1991 and the eruption of El Chichon in Mexico in 1982.

Scientists have used computer modeling to project the effect of injecting light-scattering aerosols into the stratosphere.

Unfortunately, the probable results appear mixed. Although the model predicted that corn harvests would increase 6.3 percent due to reduced heat, other crop yields would fall because of diminished sunlight, and the strategy would likely have no effect on yields for crops like soybeans, rice, and wheat. Scientists continue to study the theory in hopes of finding a viable approach to managing climate change.

Is it a headache—or a brain tumor?

Is that headache a sign of a serious medical problem? Maybe, but don't panic. A severe headache makes many people worry that they have a brain tumor, but according to The Cut website, the time to worry about brain tumors is when you have a headache combined with vomiting. These types of headaches come on suddenly, often at night, and feel worse when you're lying down. Over time they'll create other symptoms—numbness, weakness on one side of the body, and speech and vision difficulties.

More likely, a severe headache is either a migraine or a cluster headache. Both of these tend to appear in one side of the head. Some 36–44 million Americans suffer from migraines, which can last up to 72 hours. Cluster headaches also occur on one side of the head, and come in waves—people may have up to eight per day. They're more painful than migraines, but they're also over more quickly, lasting from 20–45 minutes.

Seek treatment, but don't worry yourself sick about brain tumors.

Doctors shortchanging patients, study says

Doctors are busy people—sometimes too busy. A study conducted by the University of Florida found that patients, on average, have only about 11 seconds to tell their doctors what's wrong with them before the doctor interrupts, sometimes sidetracking the interview. That may have something to do with the study's other finding—that doctors identified the patient's reason for the visit correctly only about 36 percent of the time.

The researchers offered several explanations for the situation: physician burnout, time constraints caused by the necessity of dealing with health insurance issues, and limited training in patient communication skills for physicians trained before 2004 (after that, training put more emphasis on communicating with patients).

Surprising sources of pain

The causes of pain aren't always obvious. Consider these unexpected sources:

- Back pain. Taking your vitamins? Chronic back pain can be caused by low levels of vitamin D. Another possibility: constipation caused by blockage in the colon. Eat more fruits, vegetables, and fiber for better digestion. (Source: Prevention magazine)
- Headache. Cheese may be the culprit. A substance called tyramine in cheese can trigger headaches. Also, low blood sugar can create a headache even before you realize you're hungry. A snack like whole-grain crackers with peanut butter can bring quick relief. (Source: the WebMD website)

Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

A heartfelt request

Emma came home from work one Tuesday evening with no idea how her life was about to change. Mixed in with her daily mail was a handwritten note addressed simply to “neighbor.” The handwriting on the envelope and the note inside was in a shaky hand that reminded Emma of her late grandmother’s penmanship.

The return address on the envelope was for a house across the street that Emma believed to be vacant. The curtains were always closed and in the few years since Emma and her family moved into the neighborhood, they never saw anyone enter or leave the house across the street.

The note inside the envelope read:

Dear neighbor,

I see you with your family and you seem like a very nice person. I was wondering if we could be friends. I am 93 years old and no longer have any family. I am very lonely.

The note was signed by a woman named Allison.

In just a few lines Emma was reduced to tears. She thought of her own grandmother, who she’d just buried a few months ago, and how the loss of her passing was still present. Then she thought about how much loneliness and courage it would take for an elderly person to reach out to a complete stranger, hoping to make a connection.

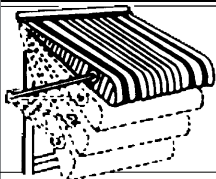

The next day, after Emma sent her kids off to school, she walked over to Allison’s house and knocked on the door. She was greeted by a petite older woman with dazzling blue eyes. For the next few hours they got to know a little about each other over a pot of coffee and warm banana bread. Over the next few years Allison became a surrogate grandmother to Emma and her family.

As we embark upon this festive season of feasting and holiday observances, let us remember that the person in the next cubicle, living down the hall or across the street may be left out of these good times. Reach out in the spirit of friendship and inclusion to warm the heart of a lonely person though a selfless act of kindness.

Fortunately, somewhere between chance and mystery lies imagination, the only thing that protects our freedom, despite the fact that people keep trying to reduce it or kill it off altogether.

—Luis Buñuel

Reading for pleasure is on the decline

---

Whether it's because of the internet, binge TV watching, or other factors, reading for leisure has declined in the United States over the past two decades. A survey from the Bureau of Labor Statistics found that leisure reading has dropped by more than 30 percent since 2004, when approximately 28 percent of Americans 15 and older read for pleasure on a given day. In 2017, that figure had dropped to 19 percent.

“That steep drop means that aggregate reading time among Americans has fallen from an average of 23 minutes per person per day in 2004 to 17 minutes per person per day in 2017,” according to The Washington Post, which reported on the survey.

The decline is sharper among men, whose reading for pleasure dropped from 25 percent to 15 percent. Among women, leisure reading fell from 31 percent to 22 percent.

The survey, the Post notes, was based on a nationally representative sample of about 26,000 people who answered questions and filled out detailed diaries about what they spent their time on the previous day.

The digital divide on online shopping

Online shopping is more common than ever these days, but some people do it more than others—women, specifically. According to a survey by First Insight, men prefer shopping at physical brick-and-mortar stores, whereas women are more likely to shop via the internet.

For example, the survey found that 60 percent of women frequently shop on Amazon, but only 46 percent of men. Similarly, 40 percent of women frequently use their mobile devices to shop, but only 22 percent of men do.

The divide holds on comparison shopping online: Thirty-one percent of women will compare prices on a mobile device while in a store, but just 21 percent of men do. Sixty-seven percent of women will check product prices on Amazon before making a purchase, compared to 54 percent of men.

One area where men are in the lead? Help from artificial intelligence. The survey found that 51 percent of men will use AI to research prices, but only 46 percent of women do the same.

Sharpen your mind to learn better

As we grow older, learning and remembering new information can grow more difficult. Here are some tips to help you stay on top of the knowledge game and keep you learning as you age:

- Focus on concentrating. Distractions are the bane of any learning attempt. If you're attending a seminar or training session, for example, sit near the instructor and maintain eye contact with him or her. Try not to fidget; simply relax into the session and let your focused attention do the job.
- Say it out loud. Read aloud the material you're trying to learn and repeat out loud the facts you want to retain. This way, both your eyes and your ears are delivering information to your brain.
- Tame frustration. If you're getting frustrated over material you're trying to learn, remind yourself that getting emotional will only hamper your ability to retain information. If you have to, step back and take a break.

Rich folks share their advice

Want to get rich? There's no guaranteed path to wealth, but these billionaires have shared on the Cheat Sheet website some of their thoughts on achieving financial success:

- Mark Cuban, owner of the Dallas Mavericks: "Save your money. Save as much money as you possibly can. Every penny you can. Instead of coffee, drink water. Instead of going to McDonald's, eat mac and cheese. Cut up your credit cards. If you use a credit card, you don't want to be rich. The first step to getting rich requires discipline. If you really want to be rich, you need to find the discipline. Can you?"
- Warren Buffett, CEO of Berkshire Hathaway: "I will tell you the secret of getting rich on Wall Street. Close the doors. You try to be greedy when others are fearful, and you try to be very fearful when others are greedy."
- Eli Broad, founder of KB Home: "No one ever made a million bucks by being cautious or timid or reasonable. I was 22 years old and recently married when I had the crazy idea that I should give up my career as a CPA and become a homebuilder. I didn't know anything about building houses. Sometimes the craziest ideas are the ones that yield the greatest payoffs."

Busy as a bee—even when the bees are sick

Honeybees are hard workers—even when they're sick. The (e)Science News website reports that researchers using radar technology have learned that honeybees continue to seek and collect honey for their hives even when they're suffering from infections or viruses.

The scientists mounted tiny, lightweight transponders to bees' thoraxes, enabling them to track individual bees using a radar signal. Studying the flight paths of 78 bees, the researchers found that although the sick bees didn't fly as far or as long as their healthy counterparts, they continued their search, suggesting that bees are hardwired to seek and procure honey even when they're ill.

Copper bracelet suggests vast ancient trade network

An ancient copper band unearthed with cremated human remains in Georgia suggests that Native Americans may have traded across greater distances than previously was thought, according to the EurekAlert website. The band, a little wider than a bracelet, came from the Great Lakes region some 1,500 miles away. Scientists were able to determine the band's origin because copper sources have a unique chemical makeup.

The fact that the Native Americans were cremated is also significant, because cremation was unknown in the Southeast United States during the time period the bracelet dates from—some 3,500 years ago—but was commonly practiced in the Great Lakes region and other northern regions. This suggests that our ancient ancestors may have had connections across large distances, allowing for wide trading networks across North America.

The question is one of judgment. For the distinguishing element of science is not intelligence but judgment. Or perhaps it is simply luck.
