Bringing people to the center

Shortly after being forced out of Apple Computer, Steve Jobs bought a small computer manufacturer named Pixar. In 2000, he relocated the company to an abandoned factory. The original plan called for three buildings, with separate offices for computer scientists, animators, and the Pixar executives.

Jobs immediately scrapped it. Instead of three buildings, he wanted a single vast space with an atrium at its center.

As Pixar's Ed Catmull explains, "The philosophy behind this design is that it's good to put the most important function at the heart of the building. Well, what's our most important function? It's the interaction of our employees. That's why Steve put a big empty space there. He wanted to create an open area for people to always be talking to each other."

Jobs saw separated offices as a design problem. He shifted the mailboxes to the atrium, then moved the meeting rooms, cafeteria, coffee bar, and gift shop to the center of the building. "The atrium initially might seem like a waste of space," says director Brad Bird. "But Steve realized that when people run into each other, when they make eye contact, things happen."

Jobs insisted that the best creations occurred when people from disparate fields were connected, especially in an age of intellectual fragmentation.

When you plant a tree every day

What used to be a landscape devastated by erosion is now 1,360 acres of forest, and it's all thanks to one Indian man named Jadav Payeng. Jadav planted a tree every single day for 40 years, and now this man-made forest is bigger than Central Park. This incredible forest is also home to hundreds of elephants, rhinos, boars, reptiles, and birds.

This botanical enthusiast says he is planning to plant trees until his "last breath." "Nature is God. It gives me inspiration. It gives me power ... As long as it survives, I survive."

If you want to learn more about this hero, check a short documentary at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HkZDSqyE1do>.

October Daily

International Coffee Day, Oct. 1. Celebrating coffee as a beverage, and also promoting fair trade coffee and raising awareness for the plight of the coffee growers.

World Animal Day, Oct. 4. An international day of action for animal rights and welfare celebrated on the feast day of Francis of Assisi, the patron saint of animals.

Columbus Day, Oct. 12. A federal U.S. holiday observing the arrival of explorer Christopher Columbus in the Americas in 1492.

National Boss Day, Oct. 16. Show your boss your appreciation. If you are a boss, let your employees know how much you appreciate them.

Halloween, Oct. 31. Trick or treat!

October Weekly

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4–10. This year’s campaign, “Serve Up Fire Safety in the Kitchen!” works to educate everyone about the simple but important actions they can take to keep themselves, and those around them, safe from fires in the kitchen.

Earth Science Week, Oct. 11–17. Since October 1998, the American Geosciences Institute has organized this international event to help the public gain a better understanding and appreciation for the Earth sciences and to encourage stewardship of the Earth. This year’s Earth Science Week will celebrate the theme, “Earth Materials in Our Lives.”

Medical Assistants Recognition Week, Oct. 19–23. Medical assistants are at the heart of health care. They play a crucial and versatile part of the health care delivery team. Celebrate these dedicated and compassionate individuals this week during the third full week in October and throughout the year.

Free Speech Week, Oct. 19–25. A yearly event to raise public awareness of the importance of freedom of speech and of the press in our democracy, and to celebrate that freedom. Individuals, schools, and all types of organizations are encouraged to recognize and celebrate Free Speech Week.

October Monthly

American Pharmacists Month. American Pharmacists Month promotes awareness of the many services pharmacists offer beyond the safe distribution of medications. These services include seasonal and lifespan immunizations; medication reviews to assess safety, effectiveness, interactions, and adherence; care management and counseling for disease states such as diabetes, high blood pressure, and high cholesterol; and smoking cessation counseling.

Blindness Awareness Month. Blindness Awareness Month is dedicated to taking the discussion of all things sight-related to the forefront of the public. It is about having good eye health as well as discussing blindness and visual impairment as a whole.

National Animal Safety and Protection Month. Our pets can't tell us what hurts, so it's crucial to understand what behavior and signs suggest that your pet may not be feeling 100% and what is normal. Breathing rate, dehydration, and temperature are all things to keep an eye out for.

National Substance Abuse Prevention Month. An observance that highlights the vital role of substance abuse prevention in both individual and community health—and to remember those who have lost their lives to substance abuse. The Office of National Drug Control Policy encourages prevention efforts this month and all year long to ensure the health of teens and young adults.

The one permanent emotion of the inferior man is fear—fear of the unknown, the complex, the inexplicable. What he wants above everything else is safety.

FLORIDA ANCHOR AND BARRIER COMPANY

To our valued customers:

During the current times we wanted to let you know that we are taking as many precautions as we can to ensure not only our workers safety but yours as well. We check workers' temperatures each morning and have limited the amount of contact our crews have with each other. Our crews work in Tyvek suits with respirators which helps to ensure your safety as well as theirs.

As a company, we want your business and there is no need for any contact if you so choose. Our business is deemed an "Essential Business" and we are here for you when you need us. You can schedule your inspection by calling 1-800-681-3772.

Stay creative in times of turmoil

We're in a time of crisis, and that makes innovative thinking harder than usual. Forbes magazine shares some suggestions for tapping your team's creativity during challenging times:

- Don't fear failure. Obviously, you want every idea you generate to succeed, but if you're terrified of a single failure, you'll paralyze your thinking. Be rigorous in your planning, but remember that not every idea—even a good one—succeeds. Don't blame people for lack of success as long as they're making a good-faith effort. Just move along to the next idea.
- Encourage ongoing innovation. Don't make innovation a single project. Sure, you can bring together a team to brainstorm solutions to a specific problem, but don't wait for issues to arise before you start devising and implementing new ideas. Remind your team members that you want them to think creatively all the time and bring up ideas whenever they occur.
- Look for mavericks. You want a diverse team to explore and implement ideas. One of the most important members is the maverick—knowledgeable in a number of subjects, not just a single discipline, and someone who's not afraid to question the conventional wisdom and buck the status quo. They're the ones who can spot genuinely innovative possibilities and integrate ideas.
- Dig for the roots of innovation. Sometimes teams and organizations lose their spark. Stuck in a rut, they can't seem to generate anything fresh. When this happens, take a good look at how creativity and innovation have shaped your organization from the beginning. What idea was your organization founded on? What is your most important mission? What obstacles have you overcome, and how did you do it? Answers to these and other questions can remind people of what they can achieve and jumpstart the innovation process again.

Creativity is just connecting things. When you ask creative people how they did something, they feel a little guilty because they didn't really do it, they just saw something. It seemed obvious to them after a while.

— Steve Jobs

In search of the right job recruit

A recruiter asked a job candidate, “Can you handle a variety of work?”
The applicant replied, “I should be able to. I’ve had ten different jobs in four months.”

A recruiter asked a job candidate, “Why did you leave your last job?”
The job applicant replied, “It was something my boss said.”
“What did he say?”
“You’re fired.”

A recruiter asked a job candidate, “What’s your biggest weakness?”
The job applicant replied, “I don’t know when to quit.”
“You’re hired.”
“I quit.”

Hardest worker

An old ranch owner named John had a small ranch in Montana. The state government claimed he was not paying proper wages to his workers, so it sent an agent out. “I need a list of your employees here, along with how much you pay them,” said the agent.

“Well,” replied old John, “There’s my ranch hand Silas, who’s been with me for three years. I pay him $600 a week plus free room and board. The cook, Ben, has been here for 18 months, and I pay him $500 a week plus free room and board. Then there’s the half-wit who works about 18 hours every day and does about 90 percent of all the work around here. He makes about $10 per week, pays his own room and board, and I buy him a bottle of bourbon every Saturday night.”

“That’s the guy I want to talk to, the half-wit,” said the agent.

“That would be me,” replied John.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."
