Ranch Mobile Beautification

As we move into 2020 please take some time to walk around the exterior of your Home to determine if any cleanup needs to be completed. Board members have driven each street in our Park over the past week to note issues that need to be corrected in order to be in compliance with the Ranch Mobile Rules and Regulations. The most common findings that need attention are mildew removal, the use of carports as a storage area, weeding landscaped areas and the trimming of shrubs and palm trees. The largest overall issue that needs to be corrected is mildew on the north sides of Mobile Homes.

All of our residents count on each other to ensure that their mobile homes are clean, neat and well presented on the exterior to help keep Ranch Mobile a GREAT place to call Home! If you see an issue that needs improvement in our Park please submit your thoughts in writing to the Board so that it can be reviewed at the next board meeting. If you submit your thoughts in writing, and sign your name to the suggestion, it makes it easier for the board to follow up with you on any action taken.

Your attention to your Mobile Home's appearance is appreciated by all Residents!

Thanks,

Your Board of Governors

Ranch Mobile Beautification Update

Thanks for all that you do as residents of Ranch Mobile to keep our Park looking great! As we mentioned earlier, the Board has toured the Park to determine what mobile home sites have an opportunity to improve the appearance of their home.

This week the Board, along with our Beautification Committee, made another trip through the Park. We want to thank you for finding that almost 39% of the homes that were identified have taken the necessary corrective action to improve the appearance of their home!

The next step in this process is to call the remaining home owners to remind them that it is their responsibility to keep their homes looking good so that all Ranch Mobile Residents get the maximum satisfaction as they enjoy their time here.

Thanks for doing your part in maintaining Ranch Mobile as a Premier Park.

The business of forgiveness

A marketer and a retail merchant, who attended the same church, struck a business deal together. The marketer heard that the merchant wanted to expand his operation, so the marketer offered the merchant a line of credit on goods to be sold in the store.

Soon after the merchant had used the line of credit, he fell on hard times. Business was bad, and he was unable to pay off his debts. The marketer was troubled. Not only had his first deal with the merchant gone sour, but now it seemed that he might never recover the thousands of dollars owed to him.

In his heart, the marketer knew that the merchant was an honest man who just did not have the resources to settle the debt. The marketer didn't want to contribute to the ruin of the merchant, so he followed his heart and forgave the debt. Soon afterward, the merchant went bankrupt and closed his store.

Years passed. One day, the daughter of the bankrupt merchant visited the marketer. She offered him a small diamond-studded bracelet—a family heirloom—as partial payment for her father's debt.

The marketer explained to the woman that the debt had been long forgiven. But the woman insisted that he accept the offering—if not as payment, then as a token of appreciation. The marketer humbly accepted.

Several days later, he took the bracelet to a jeweler to be appraised and was astonished to learn that its value equaled the amount of the merchant's debt. The marketer returned to his office and entered "Paid in Full" into his ledger—next to the merchant's name.

New Earth-like world detected light-years away

The hunt for Earth-like worlds outside our solar system has reached another milestone. The Science Daily website reports that NASA's Transiting Exoplanet Survey Satellite (TESS) has discovered an Earth-size planet in a star's habitable zone, the orbital area where conditions could be right for life.

Although many extrasolar worlds have been found, few the size of Earth have been seen in the “Goldilocks zone”—an orbit that’s neither too close to a sun nor too far away, but “just right.” The planet, TOI 700 d, is 100 light-years away in the southern constellation of Dorado. It orbits its sun every 37 days and receives 86% of the energy that our sun provides to Earth. It and other planets in the system appear to be tidally locked, meaning as they circle in their orbits, one side is constantly bathed in daylight.

It’s the first time TESS has discovered an Earthlike planet. Other such planets have been detected by NASA’s Kepler Space Telescope.

Fun fact: The star was initially classified incorrectly in the TESS database as being similar to our sun, which made its planets appear bigger and hotter than they actually are. One of the researchers who identified the error was a high-school student.

Genetic tweak makes earthworms live longer

We can’t make people immortal—yet—but scientists have discovered some genetic tweaks that can extend the lives of earthworms by 500%, according to the Science Alert website.

The earthworms in the study live only two or three weeks, making them good candidates for experiments involving genetic and metabolic processes that they share with humans. Scientists have already discovered that changing the worms’ insulin signaling pathway can increase their lifespan 100%. Similarly, alterations to a pathway called TOR (target of rapamycin) results in a 30% extension.

A new study has found that genetically shifting both pathways appears to cause an effect four to five times higher than the single genetic procedure—a synergistic approach that pulls a combination of networks together for the long term.

It’s unclear whether the research will ever result in expanded human lifespans, as humans live longer than a few weeks, making experimentation more difficult (and ethically problematic). For now, scientists will have to rely on shorter-lived species like worms, fruit flies, and mice—although in the last year scientists were able to extend the life of mice and reduce their chances of cancer by working with their telomeres.

Obesity affects teen brains

Obesity is a problem at any age, but a new study suggests it has specific risks for teenagers. As the U.S. News & World Report website explains, advanced MRI techniques show that obese teens tend to have less integrity in the white matter of their brains (white matter contains fibers that connect different parts of the brain). The lower white matter integrity was observed in the region of the brain associated with emotional control and reward seeking.

The study looked at 120 teenagers, and its findings are considered preliminary. Researchers speculate that excess body fat damages the brain through inflammation. The study found a correlation between higher levels of inflammatory substances in the blood and lower white matter integrity. Excess body fat can contribute to inflammation.

The teens whose brains were affected tended to have higher levels of leptin, which is involved in appetite control, in their blood, as well as insulin, which regulates the body's blood sugar.

Doctors point out that obesity has many causes and shouldn't be dismissed as a simple lack of willpower about eating. It's unclear at this point whether obesity is responsible for the change in white matter integrity, or vice versa—or a combination of both.

Exercise lowers depression risk

If you or someone you know suffers from depression, this news could help. An article on the MedicineNet website reports that 35 minutes of exercise a day could help lower the risk of depression, even among people with a genetic predisposition for it.

Researchers at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston analyzed two years' worth of medical records and genetic information from close to 8,000 people. They calculated a genetic risk score for each person that predicted the likelihood of depressive episodes. The data showed that people with a higher genetic risk were likely to be diagnosed with depression within two years, but physically active people with the same score—or even a higher one—were less likely to suffer from depression. For every four hours of exercise a week, the risk of depressive episodes decreased by 17%. Both intense, aerobic workouts and low-intensity practices like stretching and yoga showed the same effect.

Getting active may be the key to mental as well as physical well-being.

What you know is what you know

A man driving through the country stopped at a small farm to ask for directions. “Can you tell me how to get to Route 49?”

“Nope,” drawled the farmer as he chewed on a piece of straw.

“Well, then do you know where the turnpike is located?”

The farmer thought for a minute and then shook his head, “Nope.”

“How about Duncan? Surely you can tell me how far I am from the town of Duncan?”

Again the farmer just shook his head.

Frustrated, the driver snapped, “You don’t know much of anything, do you?”

To which the farmer replied, “Nope, but I know I’m not lost.”

An unexpected answer

A preschool teacher showed her students a display of magnets and explained their uses. The children were excited and amazed by these items and spent the rest of the morning playing with the magnets and asking the teacher questions.

Later in the day the teacher decided to quiz the class on what they’d learned. “Who can guess what I am?” she asked. “My name starts with M and I pick up things.”

Imagine her surprise when the children shouted in unison, “Mommy!”

Curiosity about life in all of its aspects, I think, is still the secret of great creative people.
