Dance Club

Welcome back all ranchers and fun loving dancers. If you missed the New Years eve Dance you missed a wonderful time. This was the best New Years Eve Dance we have ever had. The band was the Tampa Bay Travelers. They were fantastic. They are one of the top 5 best bands I've heard in a few years.

The ticket winners at the New Years Eve Dance were Steve Szumita, Bill Summer, Doris Vadnais, Ingrid Arbour. The 50/50 winners were Bernice Sydehe, Tom Walsh, Pat Burrell and Ken Eck (2x).

Tuesday, February 13, 2018, is the Valentines Day Dance. Get your tickets early because this dance sells out fast. If you don't care to dance come and listen to the music. The band will be Sun Coast.

The Crazy Hat Dance will be Tuesday, February 27. Wear your funniest craziest hat and join in the fun. The Tampa Bay Travelers will be playing again

Not a member yet? Our annual membership drive is in January and if you missed it any one of the dance committee members can help you sign up. It doesn't cost much.

We have three club members that are going off the board the end of April. Have you wanted to know what goes on behind the scenes or have ideas you would like to share. Contact Cookie Caron, Linda Raimondi or Pat Peever. The election is in March.

Please come and join our fun. You'll like us.

Cinnamon Sugar Blondies

Ingredients:

- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup flour
- pinch of salt
- 5 teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Directions

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line an 8x8 baking dish with parchment.
2. Add the butter and brown sugar to a medium mixing bowl and stir to combine.
3. Stir in the egg and vanilla.
4. Stir in the flour and salt until well combined.
5. Spread into the prepared pan. Combine sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over the batter.
6. Bake for 22 minutes or until a tester comes out mostly clean.
7. Cool before cutting.

The Old Coot's Favorite Four Words: 'Slept Through The Night'

By: Merlin Lessler

There was a new mom with her baby at the Rotary meeting the other day. It couldn't have been more than a month or two old. Never made a peep! On the way out the door I heard the mother (Donna Townsend's daughter) say in a jubilant voice, "She slept through the night twice this week." Those are special words, slept through the night, when you have a new baby in the house. If you're a parent, you never forget the magic of that moment in your child's development.

I remember when our first-born made it through the night like it was yesterday. And I remember it for each successive child. I was born too late to duck out on middle of the night baby duties. The dads in the generation that came before me weren't required to play a big role in childcare. It was a woman's thing for the most part. Not so with my generation. We were expected to share in the duties that came with having babies. We thought of it as a 50-50 deal, us men, but if you actually run the numbers it was more like 20-80. But still and all, I did my part, taking turns getting up in the night to feed and change the baby. And, after that stage, to respond to their screams when they had a bad dream or an inflamed eardrum.

Today, I have a different appreciation for those four beautiful words, "slept through the night." This time it isn't the baby that gets high praise for pulling it off. It's me. Old coots have a lot in common with newborns. Prime among them is our inability to sleep through the night. It doesn't take much to make an old coot's slumber a restless one. Our minds work overtime the minute our heads hit the pillow: Did I leave the window down in the car? - Did I forget to let the cat in? - Will I oversleep and be late for my doctor's appointment? We drive ourselves nuts with useless fretting. Thankfully, we don't need as much sleep as normal people and especially as much as teenagers, who think getting up before noon on a non-school day is considered cruel and unusual punishment, as embodied in the 8th amendment of the U.S Constitution.

I did it, slept through the night, twice this year. It's one of those things you remember when it happens so seldom: Jan. 31 and April 17. I could really relate to the thrill the new mom at the Rotary meeting felt when she bragged about her daughter sleeping through the night. Just thinking about it will probably wake me up several times tonight. But, that's okay; I'm used to it.

VINYL IS FINAL

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word - the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

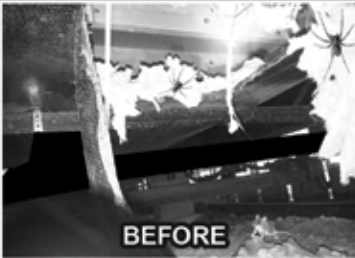

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

Lawnmower Upgrade

At age 70, my grandfather bought his first riding lawn mower.

"This thing is great," he bragged to my brother. "It took me only an hour and a half to mow the lawn. It used to take your grandmother two days to do it all!"

Teeth Cleaning

The sight of my mother cleaning her dentures fascinated by young son. He sat riveted as she carefully took them out, brushed and rinsed them, and then popped them back in. "Cool, grandma!" he said. "Now take off your arm."

Birds of a Feather

I knew that my husband's hearing had deteriorated after our friend - new to the city - asked where he could meet some singles. "Well," said my husband, "I see them in the Kmart parking lot diving for fries."

"Dear," I intervened. "Singles, not seagulls."

Dream Home

We;d finally built our dream home, but the contractor had a concern: the placement of an atrium window for our walk-in shower. "I'm afraid your neighbors might have a good view of you au naturel," he said.

My middle-aged wife put him at ease. "Don't worry," she said. "They'll only look once."

Back in Time

For her 40th birthday, my wife said, "I'd love to be ten again." So that Saturday, we had a heaping stack of chocolate-chip pancakes, her favorite childhood breakfast. Then we hit the playground and a merry-go-round. We finished the day with a banana split.

"So how did you enjoy being a kid for a day?" I asked.

"Great," she said. "But when I said I wanted to be ten again, I meant my dress size."

10 Fun Pet Ownership Facts

It's true, we're crazy about our pets! When it comes to taking care of our dogs, cats, birds, horses, and other animals big and small, most of us treat our animals as members of the family. We don't call them our "fur kids" for nothing, right? We've gathered some interesting facts about pet ownership that show how much we value our companion animals. See if you can recognize yourself in some of these fun statistics!

1. Americans spend about $5 billion on holiday presents for their pets.
2. 48% of cat owners report that their kitties like to watch TV.
3. One third of dog owners take their dogs with them when they go on vacation.
4. 80% of us think our dogs and cats can sense our moods.
5. An estimated 58% of us bury our pets on our property.
6. 27% of pet owners have had their pets' pictures taken by a professional photographer.
7. Half of surveyed pet owners admit to talking to their pets.
8. Around 15% of us will buy a new house or new car with our pets' needs in mind.
9. 70% of cats are allowed to sit on the furniture.
10. 36% of us give our dogs birthday presents.

15 Awesome Facts About The International Space Station

Did you know that the ISS goes so fast that it would go to the Moon and back in a day, that you can connect a hairdryer in Newark to a power plug in NYC using its electrical cables, that it is almost as big as Princess Leia's spaceship, or that three crew members will eat the equivalent of 32,558 Big Macs in six months? Read on for 15 awesome facts about the ISS.

In November 1998, Russia launched Zarya (dawn) atop a Proton-K rocket from the Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan. Two weeks later, NASA launched Unity. Those were the two first modules of the International Space Station. Here are 15 amazing facts about it:

1. It took an astounding 136 space flights on seven different types of launch vehicles to build it.
2. It flies at 4.781 miles per second (7.71 km/s). That's fast enough to go to the Moon and back in about a day.
3. It weighs almost 1 million pounds including visiting spacecraft. Picture 120,000 gallons of milk in supermarket cartons in your mind.
4. It has 8 miles of wire just to connect the electrical power system. That will be enough to connect a hairdryer in Newark, New Jersey, to a power plug in New York City.
5. It has a complete surface area the size of a US football field, which actually makes it almost as large as the Tantive IV, the Corellian Corvette that carried Princess Leia.
6. It has more livable space than a 6-bedroom house.
7. It has two bathrooms, a gymnasium and a 360-degree bay window.
8. It's been the spaceport for 89 Russian Soyuz spacecraft, 37 Space Shuttle missions, three SpaceX Dragons, four Japanese HTV cargo spacecraft, and four European ATV cargo spacecraft.
9. All its research experiments and spacecraft systems are housed in a bit more than one hundred telephone-booth sized racks.
10. The US solar array surface area on the is 38,400 sq. feet (.88 acre), which is large enough to cover 8 basketball courts.
11. According to NASA, "there are 52 computers controlling the ISS." Just for the US segment, there are "1.5 million lines of flight software code run on 44 computers communicating via 100 data networks transferring 400,000 signals."
12. Its internal pressurized volume is 32,333 cubic feet, which is about the same of a Jumbo Boeing 747.
13. The ISS crews have eaten about 25,000 meals since 2000. That's a staggering "seven tons of supplies per three astronauts for six months." That's 32,588 Big Macs.
14. 211 people from 15 countries have visited the ISS so far.
15. When it reaches the end of its life, some of the most modern Russian modules - like Nauka - will be reused to make a third space station to support interplanetary mission to Mars, the Moon and Saturn, serving as a launching and return point.

But beyond all these awesome factoids, the ISS is truly a great research platform, one that contributes to the greater good of the entire planet, both in terms of science and just awe and inspiration.

More importantly, ISS is also the symbol of the end of Cold War and international understanding. According to NASA, "The ISS has more than 100,000 people working for space agencies and more than 500 contractor facilities in 37 US states and 16 countries." 68 countries have been involved on the research onboard the station.

Ultimately, I hope, the ISS will be the beginning of a future planetary federation to go where no human has gone before.

Red sky in Asia mystery solved

It's a centuries-old mystery: In the year 1770, skies over Asia turned a bright red for nine days. The cause of this unusual phenomenon has never been identified. Now, though, scientists believe they have an answer.

As reported on the Slate website, researchers recently uncovered a collection of 111 contemporaneous documents from that time, and learned that the red sky had lasted longer than previously thought (just two days) and was much larger as well.

Scientists' conclusion: The effect was created by an aurora caused by solar activity, sparking the longest geomagnetic storm in recorded history.

A similar aurora was observed on two nights in 1859 by a massive solar storm known as the "Carrington Flare." Analysis of records of sunspot activity in 1770 suggests that the Asian aurora was caused by sunspot twice as large as those that created the Carrington event.

If such an event happened today, it would likely have catastrophic effects, knocking out satellites crucial to communications and GPS instruments.

New mineral found on Martian surface

NASA has discovered evidence of an ironoxide mineral on the surface of Mars, the Sci-News website reports. The mineral, called hematite, was detected by spectral analysis of photos taken by the space agency's Curiosity rover in an area known as the Vera Rubin Ridge.

Curiosity zeroed in on a rock dubbed "Christmas Cove," and used its dust removal tool, a wire-bristled brush, to uncover an area some 2.5 inches across.

Observations made the rover's Mast Camera (Mastcam) and its Chemistry and Camera (ChemCam) confirmed the presence of the hematite, a mineral that may provide information about ancient environmental conditions on the red planet.
