Monthly For February

American Heart Month. Cardiovascular disease (CVD)—including heart disease, stroke, and high blood pressure—is the No. 1 killer of women and men in the United States, as well as a leading cause of disability, preventing Americans from working and enjoying family activities. During February, learn about your risks for heart disease and stroke and stay “heart healthy” for yourself and your loved ones.

Black History Month. A celebration of African-American history and culture. In 1976, as part of the U.S. Bicentennial, Black History Month was officially recognized by the federal government, with President Gerald R. Ford urging Americans to “seize the opportunity to honor the too-often-neglected accomplishments of black Americans in every area of endeavor throughout our history.”

Love the Bus Month. Sponsored by the American School Bus Council, Love the Bus Month is a campaign to raise awareness and appreciation for the hundreds of thousands of school bus drivers who safely transport children to and from school. By supporting the value of student transportation to our education system, the ASBC promotes the idea that every person involved in our schools is vital to our children’s success.

National Children’s Dental Health Month. Developing good habits at an early age and scheduling regular dental visits help children get a good start on a lifetime of healthy teeth and gums. Each February, the American Dental Association sponsors National Children’s Dental Health Month to raise awareness about the importance of oral health for young people.

Stay healthy during cold-weather exercise

Congratulations—you're still keeping up with your New Year's resolution to get more exercise. In the dead of winter, staying active is important, but it can also be hazardous if you're not careful. Take these precautions when you're exercising in cold weather:

- Get some mittens. They keep your hands warmer than gloves. Better yet, get the kind that converts to fingerless gloves, so you can adjust when you start warming up.
- Switch to hiking boots. If you're planning to do your power walk, put on a pair of hiking boots or another pair of shoes with good traction. Cold weather usually means snowy and icy sidewalks and roads.
- Use ski poles. After you put on your hiking boots, you might want to grab your ski poles or a couple of walking sticks. They'll help stabilize you while you walk.
- Check the wind's direction. On those days when the wind is biting, start your jog or walk going into the wind. That way when you're heading back home, the wind will be at your back. You won't feel as cold or tired after all that sweating.
- Drink plenty of water. You might notice it less, but you're still losing a lot of water when you exercise in cold weather. Try to drink every 15 minutes.

What's a nutritious snack? Try these tasty treats

You're hungry. What should you eat if you're trying to avoid junk food and excess calories? Consider these healthful snack options:

- Olives. A snack of five olives has just 45 calories.
- Hummus and carrots. Four ounces of hummus and three carrot sticks contain only 80 calories.
- Pineapples and pistachios. Mix 1/2-cup of dried pineapple slices with about 25 pistachio nuts. Plus, fruits and nuts are a good source of antioxidants. Also try peanuts and raisins or almonds and dried apricots.
- Cottage cheese and apples. Top a sliced apple with about 1/2-cup of low-fat cottage cheese. Benefits: calcium, protein, and fiber.
- Mini-pizza. Slice a whole-wheat pita in half. Spread a little tomato sauce, then sprinkle some cheese and vegetables on top. Heat in microwave or toaster oven until cheese melts.
- Rice cakes. These can be eaten by themselves or with various low-fat toppings. Look for rice cakes made from whole-grain brown rice.
