Message from Manager

Just a few items, please try to keep your hoses and ornaments out of the way of the lawn crews, if you have any rocks they will not use the weed eater on your property. Hoses should be placed where they cannot run over them with the mowers.

Also remember please no paint or any chemicals are to put in the dumpster.

We have very limited parking here so I would ask all of you to be courteous and use your driveways to park your vehicles, that would leave the empty lots and overflow parking in the back for our guests. Reminder no overnight parking on the streets, if you know of a resident that is doing this, please let me know, also no parking on the lawns in front of your homes. One more parking item, the clubhouse parking area is for guests of the clubhouse and office only, please do not park your work vehicles or any other vehicles unless you are using the clubhouse facilities or visiting the office.

I want to thank all the volunteers who open and close the clubhouse for the park, we really appreciate this, residents if the pool area does not get opened at the time specified, have patience and understanding as these residents are volunteering their own time to do this for us.

Thank you all for your cooperation in the above matters. If you have any questions or concerns, please let me know.

Hurricane Irma

Note from Vicki regarding Hurricane

Our little community survived Irma. A few dings, dents and some lost car ports but we all survived and thank God for that. This may be a long post but there are some "thank-you's" due. Bob and CC Doty and Dale and Janis Jones who scoped out the park and kept up all up to date on our homes and damages via Messenger. Rob Buckman and Kim for making coffee and pasta for anyone in the park on Tuesday and Judy Reese on 7th St. who made sloppy joes for in the park.

Aron and Cindy Hand who have Bassett Lawn service for cutting the fallen trees and clearing our roads and properties. At no charge I might add. What a wonderful gesture. Pat Vogel, Bob Vogel, Peter Bachelor, Jim Bronson and Vinnie who all helped clear debris.

On Wednesday again Rob came through and deep fried a turkey. Lou Meiser carved the turkey for us. Thank you both. Janis Jones, Penny Campbell, Michelle O'Brien and Lou for donating chips, drinks, bread etc for turkey sandwiches for lunch.

At Dinner time Post Corner pizzeria donated 10 large pizza's to us for dinner. CC Doty and Lisa DeGust both work here and their owner Maria made this gracious donation. And the pizza was GREAT!

It was fantastic to see the support we gave other. It was really nice to meet some neighbors we don't often get to see. We ARE a community, not just a park.

Message from Vince Malorni

Good Bye Shangri-La

It is with Great sadness that we must advise our friends in Florida and Canada that we will no longer be able to live in Florida for the Winter months. The anemia (Vince) has not been cleared up and I can not get insurance for travel out of Canada.

We will be selling our home in Shangri-La A.S.A.P. That is why we are asking $7,000.00US$ for a completely furnished home in move in condition. At this time no agent, to keep the price low. If you know of someone who wants a good deal on a home in Shangri-La, have them call me, at 1-514-694-2771. We will need to come down to take out the personal items out of the house. It has been a pleasure to be on the Board and to serve the Residents of Shangri-La for the last 19 years.

We wish you well in the future, and will keep in touch.

Vince Malorni & Barbara McGerrigle

Editors note: Vince and Barb are going to be terribly missed. In the 17 years I have lived here they were always involved in the park activities. From Shuffle, to cooking Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. They worked the yard sale and other parties. They were always busy. We wish them nothing but the best

Find your creative style

Whatever you want to achieve on the job or in your life, you need creativity to do it. That doesn't mean you have to have the scientific genius of Einstein or the artistic vision of Georgia O'Keeffe. You can unleash your creative mind by finding your own creative style. Here's how entrepreneurial expert Esther de Charon de Saint Germain describes styles on The Huffington Post website:

- Watchmakers. Some people are highly structured and detail oriented. They like to polish their ideas until they're as close to perfect as possible.
- Wave makers. These folks are more intuitive. They don't dive into details, but think in big-picture concepts. They're apt to lose interest, though, once the hard work of hammering down their ideas starts.
- Acrobats. These thinkers can go both ways. They think outside of the box, but they're also able to hone their ideas into something practical. Try to be this kind of creator.

Improve your brain with these tips

Do you want to think more clearly, experience more insight, and have more creative breakthroughs? Take a look at a few tasks (from the Inc. website) that you can put into practice today for a more productive and imaginative brain:

- Seek out new environments. Don't stay in your rut. Go to a concert by a band you've never heard of. Visit a museum you've never been to. Travel somewhere completely new. You'll shake up your mind and nudge it in new directions.
- Let your mind wander. Don't focus all the time. Give your mind permission to soar from time to time, just exploring anything that pops in. A relaxed mind is more open to new ideas and different ways of thinking.
- Have more fun. All work and no play makes ... well, you know the rest. Take time for fun. Play a new game, take up a fresh hobby, meet new people who share your interests and can introduce you to new ones. Playfulness can lead to great ideas.
- Stop multi-tasking. When you're working on a problem or an idea, put away all distractions and focus. If you're constantly shifting from one task to another, your brain will get tired, and you won't have the perspective you need to zero in on what you're looking for.

Did you know that October is also...

Adopt a Dog Month. Each year an estimated 3 million to 4 million animals waiting in shelters never find someone to give them a safe, loving home and are euthanized. If you're thinking about getting a dog, be a hero and consider adopting from your local shelter.

Down Syndrome Awareness Month. Approximately one in every 700 babies in the United States is born with Down syndrome, making it the most common chromosomal condition. During October you can celebrate people with Down syndrome and make others aware of their abilities and accomplishments.

National Cyber Security Awareness Month. The internet touches almost all aspects of our daily life. National Cyber Security Awareness Month is designed to engage and educate public and private sector partners through events and initiatives to raise awareness about the importance of cyber security, provide them with tools and resources needed to stay safe online, and increase the resiliency of the nation in the event of a cyber incident.

National Protect Your Hearing Month. Hearing loss is a growing health issue among young adults and older Americans alike. Forty-eight million people nationwide suffer from hearing loss. National Protect Your Hearing Month is an important reminder to take steps to preserve your hearing health.

Mental Illness Awareness Week, Oct. 1-7. During Mental Illness Awareness Week, join the National Alliance on Mental Illness in shining a light on mental illness and replacing stigma with hope.

World Space Week, Oct. 4-10. More than 2,700 events in 86 countries celebrated the benefits of space and excitement about space exploration in 2016. This year's theme, "Exploring New Worlds In Space," aims to inspire even more events around the world.

National Business Women's Week, Oct. 15-21. The purpose of this observance is "to recognize women who have been the cornerstone of working in business in the United States in the past and to examine how far women in business have come."

International Music Day, Oct. 1. Initiated in 1975 to encourage the promotion of musical art among all sections of society.

World Teacher's Day, Oct. 5. Celebrate the hardworking teachers who educate our children.

Columbus Day, Oct 9. In 1492, Columbus sailed the ocean blue . . .

Dinosaurs may have been big softies

The popular image of dinosaurs is one of tough, ferocious creatures, but they may have been more sensitive than previously thought—at least their faces.

According to the Science News website, paleontologists at the University of Southampton used advanced X-ray and 3-D imaging to examine the skull of a large carnivorous land-based dinosaur found on the Isle of Wight and found that its snout may have actually been very tender—more like that of an aquatic creature. The dinosaur, a Neovenator, may have possessed pressure receptors in the skin of its snout, similar to those enabling crocodiles to forage in murky water.

Because scientists don't believe the Neovenator was a water feeder, they speculate the receptors may have been useful for picking meat from bones while eating and also stroking other dinosaur faces during mating.

What caused a massive extinction of sea life?

Most people know about the mass extinction of the dinosaurs millions of years ago, but paleontologists are hot the trail of another catastrophic event: the dying off by large marine animals 2-3 million years ago.

The extinction claimed the lives of up to one-third of marine megafauna, including water-based mammals, which lost 55 percent of their species. Forty-three percent of sea turtle species also died off, along with 33 percent of sea birds and 9 percent of sharks.

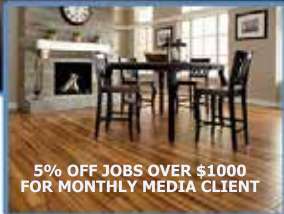

A team at the University of Zurich studying the event theorizes that a sudden loss of the productive coastal habitats combined with altered sea currents caused or contributed to the extinctions. The evidence suggests that large marine animals were more vulnerable to environmental changes than was previously believed.

A new trend: Traveling in search of good food

Traveling to see the wonders of world is always popular, but these days more and more people are heading out to try exotic foods. A survey by the American Automobile Association found that 22 million Americans are planning to take a food-based vacation in the next 12 months, and 75 percent of Americans say that food and drink are an important part of their travel experiences. Four out of five say they've traveled to visit wineries and distilleries, along with taking hands-on cooking classes and eating with local families.

Younger travelers are leading the trend: Eighty-eight percent of millennials say they've participated in food-related activities while traveling

Credit card debt growing in the U.S.

Americans added $89.4 billion to their credit card debt in 2016, according to the WalletHub website, and although they repaid $31.5 billion during the first quarter of 2017, that's still 9 percent less than they did during the first quarter of 2015 (but 14 percent higher than in 2016).

People tend to pay down credit card debt early in the year thanks to year-end bonuses and New Year's resolutions. WalletHub projects that Americans will finish 2017 with more than $60 billion in new credit card debt, for a total of more than $1 trillion overall.

Men, women, and smartphones

Here's more evidence that we're addicted to our smartphones: A survey from Decluttr.com revealed the following factoids:

- Men are four times more likely than women to use their smartphones during a wedding.
- Sixty-seven percent of men check out their devices during a romantic evening, but only 13 percent of women do.
- Twice as many women than men would rather give up sex than give up their phone.
- Smartphone owners look at their phones more when they're with friends than with their family, but men do so more than women on either occasion.
- Eighty-three of men say the worst part about not having their smartphone with them is not being able to watch videos or stream movies and TV shows, although just 17 percent of women say the same.

Three activities to ward off Alzheimer's

Alzheimer's disease may not have a cure, but experts believe some practices can help delay memory loss. Here's what you can do:

- Cognitive training. Crossword puzzles and other games can help, but try some different techniques. Do simple arithmetic in your head instead of relying on a calculator. Develop a new method for remembering what's on your shopping list. Train your brain to remember things in new ways and you'll keep it sharper.
- Control your blood pressure. Reducing high blood pressure with medication and weight loss not only cuts your risk of heart disease, but it can also ease stress on the delicate blood vessels in your brain— stress that can exacerbate memory loss and dementia.
- Exercise. Moderate aerobic exercise has many health benefits, including heading off symptoms associated with Alzheimer's. Try exercising for 30 minutes five days a week, or 50 minutes three times a week. You'll feel better and extend your cognitive health.

Scientists search for life on the toughest planets

We think of life as viable only on planets orbiting stars like our sun, but scientists now speculate that it could evolve on worlds circling very different types of stars.

Stars called M dwarfs are the most common stars in our galaxy. Their harsh flares and gravitational grip on their innermost planets could interfere with the formation of liquid water, which is necessary for life. However, astronomers have spotted approximately 200 planets circling M dwarfs, and dozens are in the so-called habitable zone where liquid water could exist and temperatures aren't too extreme for the development of life.

Scientists are studying these strange new worlds in hopes of detecting conditions that might lead to life—although it will probably be very different from any life found on Earth.

Lost and found: Seeking owner of ancient sword

Scientists are trying to determine the identity of the owner of a 14th-century sword found in a bog in Poland. The four-foot-long sword, which according to the Fox News website is remarkably well preserved, was discovered by a worker using an excavator to drain a peat bog. The worker donated his find to a local museum.

Museum officials speculate that the sword was lost by a medieval knight, or that perhaps the knight perished in the bog. Researchers are examining an engraving on the sword's hilt that may identify the knight or his family. Meanwhile, archeologists are searching the bog for other artifacts.

J.P. Morgan's negotiation tactics

J.P. Morgan loved to negotiate. Once, he told a jeweler friend of his that he was in the market for a pearl stickpin. Some weeks later, the jeweler found a perfect pearl. He put the stickpin in a beautiful box and sent it to Morgan, along with a bill for $5,000. The next day, a messenger brought the box with the stickpin in it back to the jeweler, along with a note from Morgan:

"I like the pin, but the price is too high," the note read. "If you will accept my check for $4,000, which the messenger has on him right now, I will buy the pin."

Disgusted, the jeweler refused the check, and opened the box to reclaim the pin. Inside the box, the stickpin was missing, and in its place was a check for $5,000.

When you're getting too big for your britches

Theodore Roosevelt was very good friends with William Beebe, the naturalist. Many nights, Roosevelt and Beebe would go outside and look up at the stars in the sky searching for a tiny patch of light near the constellation of Pegasus.

According to The Little, Brown Book of Anecdotes, edited by Clifton Fadiman (Little, Brown), when they found the constellation, the two men would chant: "That is the spiral galaxy in Andromeda. It is as large as our Milky Way. It is one of a hundred million galaxies. It consists of one hundred billion suns, each larger than our sun."

Then, Roosevelt would turn to his friend and say: "Now I think we are small enough. Let's go to bed."

One way to attract visitors

Early in her career, the writer Dorothy Parker had a small, dingy office in the bowels of the Metropolitan Opera House building in Manhattan. Because her office was so out of the way, nobody ever came to see her. As a result, she became depressed and lonely.

One day she decided to remedy the situation. She summoned a painter to paint her door, but instead of her name, she asked him to write: GENTLEMEN.

She doubtless received many surprised visitors.

Ensure productivity to get ahead

Success and productivity go hand in hand. To become more productive—and more successful—follow this advice every day:

- Plan ahead. Plan your day before you go to sleep. You'll wake up with a clear direction and a set of priorities.
- Get ample sleep. Give yourself enough time for a good night's sleep so you don't hit the snooze button every morning. Maintaining a consistent sleep schedule will help you get the rest you need.
- Eat a good breakfast. Your body needs fuel after a good night's sleep. A healthy breakfast will give you the energy you need to start your day off right.
- Stay hydrated. Drink plenty of water so your body can function properly. Add a slice of lemon or cucumber for some flavor.
- Meditate. Spend a few quiet moments every day letting your mind relax without directing it anywhere. You'll feel calmer and more creative overall.
- Exercise. Keeping your body in good shape will help you deal with stress more effectively.

Ensure success on your next big project

You've been put in charge of a major project at work, and you know that many potential pitfalls stand between you and its success. If you can anticipate them, you'll be better able to get the job done—and show people that you can be trusted with responsibility and authority. Here's what to do:

- Get real support from the top. For every major project, some people and departments will be reluctant to share information or change how they do things. Before you get started, make sure upper management is behind you. If you sense that they're not really committed to the project, slow down and find out what kind of initiative they would be more enthusiastic about.

- Decide on details up front. You'll bog down quickly if you're constantly changing the specs of a project. People won't act with urgency if they don't know exactly what they're trying to do, and how. Your input from stakeholders will help you define the project's requirements.

- Keep expectations realistic. Tell people how your initiative will benefit them, but don't oversell it. Let them know as accurately as possible what the project will accomplish, and when, but caution them not to expect the sun, moon, and stars on the first day it's implemented.

"...I am so happy with my new windows...I'd like to commend your work crew. Earbie and Larry were fantastic! I couldn't believe the clean-up EVERYDAY! The whole job took just a week even with all the rain delays. I would and WILL highly recommend your company to my friends and neighbors. Of course I won't need to say a word – the house is doing all the talking! Thank you so much for my beautiful new house."

Carol Zapiecki, Clearwater, FL

"Just a short note to express my appreciation for the work done on my mobile home. The crews that worked here...were gentlemen at all times, efficient, knowledgeable and prompt. You can be sure if I run into anybody who needs your type of work, I will surely recommend your company. It has been a very satisfying experience!"

Groan if you've heard these

Who can resist a good pun—or a terrible one? Here are a few guaranteed to make you crack a smile—or someone's head:

- She was only a whisky maker, but he loved her still.
- What would you get if you threw a hand grenade into a French kitchen? Linoleum Blow-napart.
- He wondered why the baseball kept getting bigger. Then it hit him.
- How does a backward poet write? Inverse.
- Don't join dangerous cults: Practice safe sects.

You get what you pay for

A man was looking to board his horse for cheap. The first farmer he talked to said he'd give him a good deal: $25, plus he'd keep the manure for his crops. The owner thought about it for a minute, then moved on in search of a better deal.

He found a second farmer, who said he'd charge him $15, plus the manure. The owner started looking for a third deal.

He came across a farmer who offered him $5. "What a deal," he thought. Then he thought about it for a second and asked, "Wait a minute. Why didn't you ask for the manure, too?"

The farmer replied, "For $5 a day, there won't be any."

Facts about the bills in your wallet

You don't have to be a millionaire to know the value of a dollar. Here are some facts about paper money from the U.S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing website:

- The first $1 bill was issued by the government in 1862 with a picture of Treasury Secretary Salmon P. Chase. George Washington's portrait first appeared on the $1 note in 1869.
- Dollar bills account for approximately 45 percent of all U.S. currency production.
- The lifespan of a $1 Reserve note is about 21 months. Other bills have different life expectancies.
- The first $2 bill was issued in 1862 and featured a picture of Alexander Hamilton, the first Secretary of the Treasury.
- The first $100 bills were issued in 1862, with a picture of the American bald eagle. Benjamin Franklin's portrait first appeared on the Series 1914 Federal Reserve Note.
- The lifespan of the average $100 note is 89 months.
